DECLARE COLONEL PLAYING OWN HAND

New York Republicans Admit Roosevelt "Put One Over" on Them in His Interest.

GRABBING OF LEADERSHIP RESENTED BY REGULARS

Former President Believes Hinman Can Carry the State Against the Democrats.

BY N. O. MESSENGER.

NEW YORK July 23.-Regular repub licans here are saying today that Col. velt has again "put one over" on them, in his own special interest and to the hazard of his party. In rejecting Whitman and taking up Hinman they feel that the colonel is playing to his egulars over the cool assumption by Col. Roosevelt of the leadership of the republicans of the state, as well as bull moosers, exhibited in his statement issued ast night. The regulars say that in this announcement the colonel clearly mani ests his intention to seize the leadership of the republican party and proves con as a stalking horse to that end.

They concede that with this particu lar purpose in view the colonel has exhibited brilliant political strategy, of which art he is conceded to be the st grand master, but they are fearful how it will work out in next No vember's elections. They apprehend the presence in the field of a bull e and a regular republican candidate, with possible repetition of the catastrophe of 1912, which put the lemocrats in power.

Republicans are convinced that District Attorney Whitman will enter the primaries seeking nomination as the regular republican candidate for governor, while Mr. Hinman will run as the bull moose candidate, appealing to his old republican friends to support him.

Would Split Republican Vote.

If it falls out this way there will be candidates to split the republican ote at the elections in November. The egulars insist that if Col. Roosevelt had dorsed District Attorney Whitman the eunion of bull moosers and regulars ould have been complete, and in No-ember Whitman would have carried the by such a large majority that they ald still be counting the votes January inauguration day.

I inauguration day.

Col. Roosevelt gave as his ostensible reason for rejecting Whitman the charge that Whitman "was Boss Barnes man."

Now, I want to show you just how much buncombe all this talk about Boss Barnes is. Under the new election law the state committee is a statutory body. It is chosen by popular vote and represents the will of the people. There would be no way on earth for Barnes to retain power if the people do not want him, and he could not expect any influence on the choosing of the committee, so fair-minded men can dismiss the Barnes bugaboo.

As stated in these dispatches yesterday, the belief is widespread that the colonel refused Whitman because he might overshadow the colonel in 1916.

Elaborating this view, one of the leaders said today. "For two years Desired."

refused Whitman because he might over-shadow the colonel in 1916.
Elaborating this view, one of the lead-ers said today: "For two years District Attorney Whitman has filled the head-lines of the newspapers almost continu-ously, until the people up-state have come to think that he must be the 'real In the present demoralized condition of the democratic party in this state. Whitman as the lone republican state, which are the ione republicate would win a smashing victory. As the redeemer of the state of Net York he would easily be the foremos republican in 1916."

Sees Victory for His Ticket.

if it is urged that Col. Roosevelt is endangering his prospects for 1916, by risking a split party this fall, the answer is this: The colonel does not think his project of running Hinman and harmonizing the party is likely to fail. On the contrary, his sagacity argues sure victory in November for his ticket. The colonel figures that is Hinman and Whitcolonel figures that is Hinman and Whitman run in the primaries and Hinman gets the larger votes, as the colonel believes he will; or, even if they break anywhere near even, the republicans of New York state on election day in No. wember when they go to the polis will be confronted by the alternative of sure victory by voting for Hinman or continued democratic ascenancy by dividing the party.

And the colonel is confident that when they face this stern reality they will yote

And the colonel is confident that when they face this stern reality they will vote for Hinman and elect him. You see, it will not be as if they were voting for a rank bull moose insurgent; Hinman has been a regular republican in the past, although aligning with the reform type personified by Gov. Hughes. Even now he has the promised support of many of the stanchest "old guard" leaders up the stanchest "old guard" leaders up state, who want to get the democrats out and are willing to take their chances with Hinman playing fair after elected.

That is the colonel's program, and even the malcontent regulars have to admit that it sounds mighty reasonable recog-is what makes them so mad; they recogthat it sounds mighty reasonable. That is what makes them so mad; they recog-nize the possibility of the colonel winning with it when, of course, he would over-top Hinman and be the commanding fig-ure in New York politics, with the pres-tige of having wrested the state from "The colonel is showing them." said as enthusiastic bull mooser today, "that there isn't a man in New York state who can beat him playing politics. He is back in his old stride and you will have to watch out for him in 1916."

Boss Barnes Keeps Quiet.

What is Boss Barnes doing? He isn' just at present. Hinman's "repudiation"

It's all in the day's work, Mr. Barnes philosophizes.

Here is a suggestion that is interesting. They are whispering in polltical circles that Suizer is being "encouraged" secretly by republicans to run as an independent candidate for governor, if he can obtain the necessary votes to nominate him. It is estimated that Suizer would draw at least 40,000 votes from the regular democratic nominee in November and that would be manna from heaven to the republicans. Suizer still declares that he intends to run.

The republican state convention is to meet at Saratoge August 18, and will have a dominating effect upon whether a regular republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination shall enter the primaries.

While, as stated yesterday, that convention is authorized only to officially frame a platform and attend to some minor business, in point of fact it will unofficially deal with candidacies.

This will result from the gathering of the leaders from every county, who will confer and exchange notes as to conditions and prospects. It is said they will be looking to party success in November as the paramount consideration, and if they should decide that it would be unwise for District Attorney Whitman to run as a regular, it is not would be unwise for District Attorney Whitman to run as a regular, it is not likely that Mr. Whitman would have the temerity to resist their judgment. So, that meeting may clinch Col. Roosevelt's program, as he has framed it, and make it easy sledding for Mr. Hinman in the primaries, which will be held September 28.

President Wilson was asked today to give prompt recognition to the primary of South Dakota respecting the distribution of patronage, and he taken the matter under consideration

The question was placed before the President by Representatives Burke and Dillon of that state, who presented to the President a letter from R. O. Richards, author of what is known as the Richards law and chairman of the direct legislation organization in that state. In this letter, the writer being a republican, the statement was made that the Richards law provides a legal, lemocratic method for recommenda tions to appointive government posi tions; that the law is calculated to im prove the public service and lessen the corrupting influence of the officials

Give Law Fair Trial.

The President is requested to direct his department heads to comply with the law in patronage in South Dakota in the They wish to see the law given not to be workable the people will insist upon an amendment.

The law to which the attention of the President is called directs that recommendations for all important federal patronage above that of postmaster shall be made by the democratic state central committee, which is composed of men duly elected in the primaries of last March. For postmaster the law requires that duly enrolled democrats may by petition of 10 per cent of the voters of any city or town become candidates in a primary to be held, all the legal voters of the municipality being entitled to pass judgment. The state committee is compelled to recommend the candidate receiving a majority or plurality of the votes to the Postmaster General, who is not compelled, of course, to accept the recommendation if he does not regard the man as acceptahe does not regard the man as accepta with the opposition party and to weaken their allegiance to the democratic party. The republicans and bull moose people charge that Ed. Johnson and his "straw party organization" are using the patronage in a crafty manner to bring results to their congressional party tickets in November.

The putting into effect of the Richards primary law was submitted to President Wilson and Postmaster General Burleson a year ago, but at that time an opinion from the attorney general of South Dakota was submitted claiming that the law could not then become operative, at the legal party machinery to operate it had not been chosen by primary. This objection, it is held, cannot be applied now, inasmuch as the machinery of the democratic party, state and county, was chosen in the primaries held last March.

Will Not Name Old Man.

That the majority of the committee are bent on extreme measures, that their attitude is a dagerous one toward both the peace and industry of the country, is evident from their criticism of this nominee."

Referring to Mr. Jones' relations with the harvester company, Senator Lee asserted:

"Every act of Mr. Jones in connection with the company seems to have been entirely proper, and to have been a part of a general business experience, well qualifying him to protect the public inerest as a member of the tederal reever board. He expressly states that he into in sympathy with these big consolations, and that he is in thorough actord with President Wison's policy in stroying monopoly.

PARIS, July 23.-Judge Louis Albanel's court in the palace of justice, where Mme Caillaux, wife of the former premier, is undergoing trial for the murder March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, was as crowded as ever when the fourth hearing started today. Man of the people had come to see Joseph Caillaux confronted, according to the practice of the French courts, former Premier Louis Barthou, who had been subpoenaed as a witness. The testimony was to be concluded to day with the evidence of M. Barthou and of Mme. Berthe Gueydan, the first wife of M. Caillaux, but before they were due to come to the stand half a dozen other witnesses of lesser importance were to testify. The Arguments of Procurator General Jules Herbaux for the prosecution, and of Fernand Labori, counsel for the defense, would, it was announced, probably begin late in the day. Mme. Caillaux took her place in the prisoners' inclosure punctually at noon. She carried in her right hand a little vial of smelling salts and a notebook. Joseph Calllaux and his friend, Pascal Ceccaldi, had visited the prisoner in the conciergerie before the hearing began. They found that the long strain was beginning to tell on her and that she felt exhausted and ill, but she showed strong determination to face her ordeal with calmness.
